Use for all vendor accounts (see below)

Last update 3.12.09

NSSS Search - A National Social Security Search (NSSS) is pulled from the Credit Bureau and is not a validation from the Social Security Administration.

Discrepancies appear on the NSSS, (such as names other than Vendor Personnel's) will come back as a "Does Not Meet" status. The Vendor should corroborate the SSN through the Social Security Administration to address this issue.

OFAC Search (Office of Foreign Asset Control) - It is a database search that hits the Office of Foreign Asset Control database. They list individuals who the US government has barred from conducting business or affiliation in the US. A hit on this database would result in a "Does Not Meet" status.

Patriot Act Data Base - identifies applicants who may be included on a collection of government and private sector watch lists. These are individuals wanted by authorities in connection with some criminal activity or are prohibited from doing business with United States entities as a result of suspected terrorist, narcotic, or other illegal activities. A hit on this database would result in a "Does Not Meet" status.

Federal and State Criminal History Searches – based on residences for the past 7 years as determined from the NSSS search

Any felony or misdemeanor conviction in the last 7 years relating to the following crime categories results in a "Does Not Meet" status:

Theft	Violence
Drug Possession	Drug Distribution
Fraud	Embezzlement
Sex Offense	Prostitution
3 or more worthless check (or related) charges	Pending cases for charges that, if convicted, would affect the hiring eligibility

Motor Vehicle Report – required annually

Any MVR including the following results in a "Does Not Meet" status:

- Multiple DUI/DWI charges in the last 3 years
- Suspended/Revoked License

Drug Testing

The following drug testing results "Does Not Meet" status:

- Positive for any of the 5 panel substances

Cocaine	Marijuana
Opiates/Morphine	Amphetamines
Methamphetamine

- Adulterated specimen
- Applicant did not report to test

The following drug testing results "For your Review" status:

- Diluted Specimen – requires retest

If any services requested to be deleted, it will return a "Does Not Meet" status.

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under the FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

• You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment – or to take another adverse action against you – must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.

• You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your “file disclosure”). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:

- a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
- you are the victim of identify theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
- your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
- you are on public assistance;
- you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

In addition, all consumers are entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for additional information.

• You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.

• You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for an explanation of dispute procedures.

• Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.

- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.

- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need – usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.

- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

- You may limit “prescreened” offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited “prescreened” offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt-out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-567-8688.

- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.

- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. For information about your federal rights, contact:
